

Echo's new format benefits everyone

Readers of the Haliburton County Echo will notice that the newspaper has gone through a major transformation this week.

John Zylstra, publisher of The Echo, said that the page size change is an endeavour, on the newspaper's part, to provide its readers and advertisers with the best possible format to read.

Mr. Zylstra noted, "The broader or metro style is ideally suited to the modern photography equipment the newspaper has." He went on to say that it will give The Echo the opportunity to provide a much better appearance, both graphically and for readability.

"We, at The Echo, are always trying to provide the best product possible, he said.

Mr. Zylstra, in a special message to the advertisers concerning the change, said, "The advertising rates will remain the same despite what he calls a major improvement to the format." He pointed out that the column width is exactly the same as the old tabloid style

He added that the advertisers will likely find that their ads are just as visible on the new page, if not more. "The metro page gives us the opportunity to display the advertisements in a much easier to find manner," he added.

"The benefits for the readers are almost uncountable," Mr. Zylstra said. He pointed out that just the front page alone now provides space for much more indepth news coverage of the entire county.

Mr. Zylstra said, "The readers will find in many cases that a larger more readable type will be used along with many pictures of the activities in the Haliburton Highlands."

He added that weekly newspapers have become the leaders in innovations in the field of journalism. "For many years the community newspaper was tied into the old style tabloid format which just isn't flexible enough to allow us to service our customers in the best possible fashion," Mr. Zylstra said, "in the past few years weekly newspapers have drawn away from the former traditions and have steadily improved the products to where they truly are part of the lifeblood of the community."

"We hope that The Echo's changes in the past few years including modern printing facilities, new offices and now the new page format have given Haliburton County and its people what they deserve, the best possible product," he concluded.

"The role of the weekly newspaper is to mirror, faithfully and conscientiously, the community to the community, to provoke it where necessary, to praise it whenever possible, to defend it faithfully but always to serve it best by penetrating with the local news to a depth not possible with any other media."

From Vol. 1, Report of the Special Senate Committee on Mass Media, 1970.

Renovations prove old can be good

The Municipality of Dysart et al has proven that old can be good and something for the future.

At the opening of the remodelled municipal building Saturday most speakers emphasized the fact that the building is steeped with history and has a chance now to become part of the history of the present and the future.

Reeve Murray Fearrey, told those that gathered in the council chambers in the building that 18 months ago there was serious consideration to tear the structure down.

He emphasized the possibility of constructing a new municipal building was strong until a few residents of the community showed what could be done with the old.

Reeve Fearrey gave special thanks to Maurice Emmerson, the building co-ordinator, who he said was one of these people who felt the building should stay.

He pointed out that with special help from a number of people the municipality was able to get a local initiative program grant to help pay for the renovations.

Rev. John Smith, who conducted a service of rededication for the building, said that the building represents much of the past that is good and "much of the foundations this country was built on."

"Rededication means building on old foundations that are lasting," Rev. Smith said.

Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins said, "It is a beautiful building and the money was well spent."

Mr. Eakins related a similar case in Lindsay when he was the mayor of that town where a decision was made to improve the municipal building in that municipality.

"I believe in urban renewal but we should also consider the conservation of buildings," he said.

Victoria Haliburton MP Bill Scott said, "The municipality has taken the good from the past and blended it into the new."

He said that the Dysart municipal building will be a point of interest for many years and noted that it played a part in the early history of the county, and now will be playing a part in "the new history."

Jerry Howarth, warden of Haliburton County, congratulated the municipality for the fine job that was done on the building and said, "Dysart is one of the forward looking communities in our county."

The program also included the dedication of a painting by well known local artist Bruce Mills to the municipality and its people. Mr. Mills gave the painting to the people through Reeve Fearrey. The painting is hung in the council chambers on the top floor of the municipal building.

Chairman for the program was Lloyd Coneybeare, deputy reeve of the municipality. About 30 people attended the ceremonies.

Police identify body

The body of a man found in a swamp near Farquhar Lake in the Wilberforce area last week has been identified as James Kelso of Toronto.

Kelso has been missing since May 21, 1975 when he was in the Wilberforce area on vacation.

The Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report that the body was identified as the result of an investigation by Det. Sgt. Earl MacDougall and the identification unit of Peterborough, the provincial Forensic Pathology Dept. in Toronto and Const. Barry Connelly of the Minden detachment.

Kelso died of exposure and the Minden detachment reports that foul play is not suspected.

Bob Davis of Maple Lake has found Canada's north much to his liking and during the past few years has spent a great deal of his time in what has been called Canada's wasteland. Here we see a northern Labrador

Eakins is not optimistic that province will help Pine Grove

Victoria Haliburton MPP John Eakins is expecting to get a report from the Ministry of Natural Resources on Tornado damage at Pine Grove Point resort camp near Harcourt but he isn't optimistic about what will be done about it.

Mr. Eakins said that he visited Pine Grove Point the day of the tornado and has been trying to get help for the owners of the camp, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Atkinson since that time.

He said the scene that day at the camp was "pretty grim."

Mr. Eakins said that he understand that it has to be declared a disaster area before the province can do anything.

"I am not that optimistic that they will do anything," he said.

Pine Grove Point resort camp was hit by a tornado Aug. 13. The storm overturned trailers, damaged buildings and knocked down a number of trees.

The tornado hit the camp at about 5:10 a.m. and demolished three trailers. There were about 60 people the camp at the time but no injuries were reported.

Mr. Eakins said he was successful in getting Experience 76 crews to help in the cleanup operation at the camp.

Area tourism holding own; Ontario down

Most of Canada might have been feeling the pinch in the tourist business but Bob Stinson, Manager of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce said that things were about usual in this area.

Mr. Stinson said he hears a few figures from the province on the downward trends in the tourist industry including one which shows a 75 per cent drop in the business and another which has it down 15 per cent.

In the Haliburton Highlands, Mr. Stinson said, the occasional campers number is down and he attributed the cooler weather as one of the factors.

The resort business finds itself "up, holding its own and down" in some cases.

Mr. Stinson said that the resorts that have generally kept upgrading and have good promotional campaigns are at least holding their own this year. "The ones that haven't improved are down," he said. Mr. Stinson pointed out that the resort business is extremely competitive and is "getting more so."

The weather has been a factor in the resort business as opposed to housekeeping cottages. Mr. Stinson noted that people staying at resorts can leave after a few days and not pay for the rest of the week where people renting cottages have to pay for the week whether they stay or not.

He said that there were a number of cancellations at housekeeping cottages this year but the chamber has been able to provide assistance in filling these vacancies.

Mr. Stinson said that the highlands and the rest of the tourist business in Canada was likely helped by having a 10 week summer instead of nine like last year.

A big loss has been a drop in American tourists. Mr. Stinson said that the bicentennial celebrations in the United States has contributed to this. He noted that because the tourist associations and the province realized that there would be a drop in American tourists most of the advertising money was spent in the Golden Horseshoe area of the province.

He added that speaking to merchants in the area most feel that the turnover was up slightly this year. One local garage owner told Mr. Stinson that his gasoline gallonage was up 35 to 45 per cent this year.

Ontario's mandatory seat belt law and lower speed limit regulations continue to have a dramatic effect on the number of motorists killed and injured in traffic accidents. Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow has said. There were 66 fewer drivers and passengers killed and 6,675 fewer injured in motor vehicle accidents during the first six months of this year, compared to the same period a year ago, Mr. Snow said. Considering the death and injury toll has been on the increase for a number of years, I'm certainly encouraged by these figures. It's obvious the legislation is helping to reduce the carnage on our streets and highways, I hope the trend continues.

Some of the local Rotarians from the Haliburton and Minden will be attending the District Golf Tournament to be held at Gravenhurst on September 15th. The annual Minden Haliburton golf tournament will be held on September 20th.

It is sure welcome news to see that Haliburton County's public health nurses are now back on the job. They were out too long. For close to four months these nurses have been locked out and public health matters have been left up in the air.

Forty-six high school, community college, university and exchange students who have been working in forestry, access points, cross-country ski trails and maintenance programs in the Minden District will soon be heading back to school.

As part of Ontario's Experience '76 summer employment program, the students will leave behind thousands of dollars worth of construction and maintenance projects, studies, maps and other valuable data.

In exchange, the students will take away funds for tuition and educational expenses, and a wealth of experience gained by a brief exposure to resource management and development.

Approximately equal numbers of male and female students were hired at pay rates ranging from $2.65 per hour for manual labourers to $3.50 per hour for project supervisors. Salaries were kept down to these levels to provide as many jobs as possible.

An innovative program this year involved the co-operation of the Municipality of Dysart et al and the Ministry of Natural Resources. Twenty-seven students developed twelve water access and day use areas on municipal lands for public use.

Two students designed and developed two systems of trails in the Victoria County Agreement Forest. Areas for snowshoeing and cross-country skiing have been marked and established and will be available for these activities this coming winter.

Forest improvement operations in the Victoria County Agreement Forest and the Gooderham area have been conducted by six students, including one exchange student from the Province of Quebec.

Eight students working with Parks Branch have maintained and improved 25 public access points on Crown lands within the District.

General headquarters maintenance and involvements with Forest Protection Branch have been carried out by three students at Minden District Office and the two work centres at Haliburton and Gooderham. Most students have indicated that their summer's employment has been an enriching experience.

Editor's note: Jennifer Woods is a resident of the Haliburton area who has a great deal of interest in providing our readers with a number of helpful hints for around the house. Jennifer's column will be a regular feature of the Echo.

My family and I came to live in the beautiful Haliburton Highlands where clean air and water is in abundance. I believe if we live in a healthy climate we should try to maintain that healthiness in our bodies. We are what we eat.

During the past few years I have read and sought out recipes and household hints that have made meal planning more nourishing and interesting in our home. I have found that friends, neighbors and complete strangers are more than willing to share their proven ideas and their treasured recipes. To me this just proves one thing-people are truly interested in other human beings-the "good neighbor spirit" is still as strong as ever.

A recipe that I would like to share with you is Buttermilk Muffins. It is the best recipe I know to lure sleepy ones out of bed in the morning and it will give you family a good healthy start.

Combine 4 cups of All Bran and 2 cups of boiling water and soak. Cream 1 cup of shortening and add 2 cups of sugar to the mixture. Then add 4 beaten eggs and 1 tsp. of salt. Pour one quart of buttermilk into the bowl and blend it together until smooth. Then add the soaked All Bran and 2 cups of 100 per cent Bran Cereal and mix. Sift 5 cups of all purpose flour with 5 tsp. of baking soda and add to the mixture using a few swift strokes. Make sure it is well blended. Finally add 1 lb. of raisins or whatever dried fruit you prefer. As you can tell this makes a lot of muffins (approx. 5 quarts) and it will keep up to 6 weeks in the fridge (covered). Imagine fresh muffins for breakfast every morning. I usually add some wheat germ just to make them more nutritious. Let them stand for 24 hours before using and bake for 20 min. at 375 F.

I hope you enjoy these moist and fragrant Buttermilk Muffins and "good eating" to you and your family.

Two major events held over weekend

Two big events took place over the weekend, one was the 112th Anniversary of the County Fair in Minden and the other was the official opening of the refurbished Municipal Building (Offices) and new fire Hall at Haliburton.

As usual hundreds of people made their way to Minden on Saturday and Sunday for the annual County Fair which this year celebrated its 112th Anniversary. We might mention here that this is the only fair left in the county. It's not just a Minden Fair anymore it's a county fair and everyone in the county either serves on the fair board or are asked to contribute to this fair. It's hard anymore to keep a local fair on the tracks and the Minden Fair Board deserve a great deal of credit for going out and working hard to give the county an annual fair.

This year's fair featured a grandstand show, fair queen contest, parade, midway rides, amateur talent contest plus many more highlights. The Canadian Country Jubilee with Dusty Lee Rivers delighted all the fans to the show and dance on Saturday night.

It is our hope that the Fair Board will continue to keep up the good work and keep the fair going for many years to come.

On Saturday afternoon in Haliburton many people turned out to join with the Dysart Municipal council and staff for a tour of the refurbished Municipal Building (Offices) and the new Fire Hall. The official re-dedication of the building took place at 3:30 p.m. and coffee and doughnuts were served at the fire hall. The municipal building with its new offices looks very attractive and the council are to be congratulated on their efforts in looking forward to making the many changes to the building. A great deal of work and expense went into these smart new modern offices.

Haliburton now has a new fire hall which is one of the finest in Ontario situated near the curling arena. This new hall separated from the municipal building now will serve to be a great benefit to the citizens of the Municipality of Dysart et al.

Museum popular spot

The Haliburton Highlands Museum at Haliburton has proven to be a very popular spot this summer. Hundreds of people have taken the opportunity to visit the museum and take a look back into the past.

The museum not only draws the visitors to our area but also many local people also take the time out to view the articles and photos of the past.

George Hardy who looks after the museum has done a marvellous job keeping it open day after day and showing the people in his friendly style just how the people used to live in days gone by.

Practically every week George has furnished the Echo with a list of visitors that we have published and handed on to you. This has been a splendid idea and our thanks to George for taking this time out from his busy schedule to give us this news every week.

The museum is a wonderful tourist attraction and its well worth your while to go over and browse around and look back over the history of this wonderful country.

The museum committee are also to be congratulated on the many hours of work they have given to this project in gathering together old articles so that they can be on display for your viewing pleasure.

The historical committee of the Rotary Club of Haliburton are looking forward to the day that a brand new museum can be constructed in Haliburton. This new building we understand will be built out of cement blocks and the committee are looking forward to the day when this new building will become a reality.

If you happen to be one of the few who have not already visited the local museum why not take time out today to go over and view our past history. We know that you will not be disappointed. It's a must that you see this museum.

Pic of the Past

The old gentleman shown in the photo is the late Alfred Schofield who resided in Haliburton for many years. Before his death he was a resident at the Victoria County Home in Lindsay. Mr. Schofield was a very active member of the community having been associated with many various organizations including the Red Cross and Childrens Aid. Our thanks to Mary Robertson of Haliburton for submitting this photo.

Home safety habits

Don't forget to take along those home safety habits you have maintained all year when you go on vacation...particularly if you're planning a family camping trip, says the Ontario Safety League.

Make sure you know the location of the nearest doctor, hospital or First Aid Station.

Keep dangerous equipment and poisons in a safe place and out of reach of children. Knives, axes and hatchets are just as dangerous as the blades of your lawn mower or the kitchen knives; insect repellents, lighter fuels, etc., are just as hazardous to curious children in the camping environment as they are in the kitchen or garage.

Smoking in bed, one of the prime causes of home fires, can have the same result in a tent or camper. And your fire safety habits are doubly important in the dry, open camping area. Keep those fires to a minimum and always have water or sand on hand.

Barbecues are intended for outdoor use...not inside your camper or tent where deadly carbon monoxide can build up within minutes.

Good housekeeping is just as necessary when camping as it is around the home. Examine the site for broken glass, aluminum can pull tabs, and other such hazardous objects upon selecting your camp site and when you leave. Remember, that carelessly tossed oar can give you the same trip as that skate board left on your front walk.

A family camping trip can be great fun—and relaxing. But it requires careful planning and safety consciousness.

Boy, I can't think of anything more harrowing than trying to write a column sitting at the picnic table in the backyard on a midsummer day.

I envy those writers who have a nice, quiet study, preferably without windows, in which to do their work. No distractions, no disruptions. Just the writer and his machine, the words pouring onto the clean white paper life sparkling wine onto a white linen tablecloth.

It's almost impossible for me to concentrate on turning out a piece of taut, fascinating, creative prose for more than a minute or two, sitting here today. Too many interruptions.

Not only do I not have no windows, if you'll pardon the triple negative, it's just one big window, and I can't stop looking through it. If it was possible to turn my head in a 360 degree circle, I would see an entire world, mostly green, in miniature.

There's my neighbor, Helen, at the clothesline. Uh-huh. Looks like her granddaughter was here for the weekend. Ten diapers on the line, among the towels and sheets. Doesn't believe in disposables. I do.

There's a sawing sound across the fence. Wonder what my neighbor, Jim, is working at this fine sunny, sunny day. Better saunter over and check it out. We'll have a chat about the inequities of the town council.

Here come Patsy Woods, a third side neighbor, with her little brother. Bad news. One of my huge oak limbs, about two feet in diameter, the one that hangs right over their house, has a split right up to the trunk. Have to go and look. Yeah, that's bad Patsy. I'll have to call George, the tree man, and have it taken down. Pity, but it will provide some excitement for the neighborhood.

Right behind me is the big, square, brick house in which lurks my old lady, suffering from the mummy of all sunburns. Nose like an over ripe cherry, chest like a peeling boiled beet. Furious because of the way she looks and feels.

I don't burn. After a dreadful experience as a kid, when I had to sit for two days and nights in a chair plastered from head to toe with some concoction of my mother's for sunburn (was it baking powder or baking soda?), I keep my lily limbs covered. Oh, I get what we call a farmer's tan, forearms, face and neck, but the rest of me is white as the driven snow.

I don't turn around to look behind me at that house. Aside from my suffering wife inside, there is the outside. That beautiful green vine, so much admired by visitors, is climbing the brick wall like a giant squid, pulling the bricks loose one by one, and occasionally hurling one down, just above the back door. At today's rates for repairs, that brickwork will likely cost me more than it cost to build the house 70 odd years ago.

Let's change the subject. In fact, I think I'll break off for a moment, it's so painful. There's the garbage can to bring in. Maybe I'll get my seven iron out of the car trunk and cut some weeds. That's what I use instead of a hoe.

There, that's better. My swing was right on today. Kept my head down, my eye on the weed, took a slow back swing, and one whole flower bed is weedless.

Also pushed the lawn mower under the spruce tree, to keep the rain off, and picked up the grandkid's inflatable swim pool, which, after a week sitting there full of rain, grass and bugs, left a big round dead patch in the lawn. Good work, Bill.

More distractions. A cheeky black squirrel,

If only I could win? Win at anything, but mostly Wintario or the Olympic lottery.

Last week in our usually large bundle of mail I found a small note from the Wintario people that a local man, Brian Barry was successful in winning $10,000.

Until that time I was just cured, my dreams of winning a great deal of money in one of the lotteries had just about vanished but after going out to take Brian's picture and hear him tell how he didn't sleep the night his number was drawn brought back the memories.

Back a couple of years ago, when there was just one lottery around, the olympic variety I found myself buying at least one ticket on every draw and looking for people to split on as many more as possible. Low and behold I found out that people actually win.

In Kapuskasing, a northern Ontario town, two million dollar tickets were drawn.

At that time I was living in Timmins, which happens to be the closest city to Kap, and to top it off the publisher of the newspaper I was working for lived in Kap.

Lottery fever took over our office at that time, we collected money gave it all to the publisher and told him to buy as many tickets on as many lotteries as possible in Kap.

Although no more grand prize winners came out of Kapuskasing people in that area continued to win and my tickets continued to lose. The excitement soon dropped and the number of tickets I bought went in the same direction.

I even felt that on the Wintario end of the deal I got my money's worth. I was working in a town where one of the draws was held and after the television show the local distributor for the tickets held a reception at one of the finest hotels in that area.

Taking the wife along one of the orders was to eat and drink all you can to make up for all of the tickets we bought only to discard every other Thursday night.

Now I live in the Highlands, and not to my surprise a $10,000 winner appears in the area, the fever is coming back and in all likelihood I will be the first in line to buy lottery tickets once again.

Disaster seldom strikes close to home for residents of Ontario and when it does it almost always seems to be downplayed.

Like many others a couple of weeks ago I visited Pine Grove Point resort camp, which was ripped apart by a tornado, on Friday the 13th of August.

After looking at the damage I realized that Friday the 13th although unlucky for the owners of the camp, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Atkinson, it also had a lucky side for those who were at Pine Grove Point.

It is almost amazing that there was no one killed when the tornado ripped through the camp.

MPP John Eakins, who visited Pine Grove just after the storm, had the same sentiments. He added that he has never seen so many trees destroyed at one time.

Having neighbors and friends really paid off for the Atkinson's. Mr. Atkinson told me that it would have been impossible for him and his family to clean up after the storm had it not been for the help they received.

looking for a handout. Dumb cat rubbing against my leg, looking for the same. Three ugly grackles, striding splay-footed and insolent, across my lawn, pecking up the fresh grass seed.

Ahah! What's that noise down the lane. Better stroll down and see. Great. A Bell telephone truck and two young fellows digging a post hole. Entire neighborhood wakes. Machinery digs hole, erects pole with ease.

Old timers comment scornfully. Remember when you dug then by hand, with a spoon shovel. Brutal hard work.

There's the fire engine! Better jump in the car and follow. Holy old jumpin! Why do they let all these crazies follow the fire truck through town at 50 miles an hour? Somebody might be killed.

Wasn't much. Just some dumb housewife let the fat boil over while she was watching her soap opera. But it might have been a good one, like the old lumber mill last week. That was a dandy.

Should get back to the column. Oh, no. There's the old battleaxe at the back door, wailing, "What are you doing enjoying yourself, when you know I'm in agony? Least you could do is put a washing through and sweep the kitchen floor, it's filthy. And you haven't brought me any fresh tea for two hours."

Oh, lordy. Who's this pulling up? It can't be. It is. It's those people we met at a party two years ago and insisted with great fervor and sincerity that if they were ever in our neck of the woods, to look us up. Look at that. Three kids and a dog. Oh, dear.

Perhaps you can understand now why I hate being a schoolteacher and having the summer off and having to write a column out under the trees, instead of writing it at my desk in mid-winter.

One a day is all anyone could eat

Americans show catch of Atlantic Salmon at fly-in camp

Carry 300 pounds and a canoe and see Canada

Bob Davis has spent a great deal of time travelling in the past few years but instead of the usual tourists spots Bob has found his enjoyment where very few people live.

Bob, 25, will be returning to his Maple Lake home later this month from his latest expedition, a year and a half in Labrador.

His father, Harry Davis, said that Bob's wanderings into Canada's north started in 1972 when he paddled a canoe from Kennis Lake to Moosonee on James Bay. That journey took 32 days and Bob enjoyed it so much he has spent the past few years planning trips and travelling in the north.

In 1974 Bob made his first trip to Ungava Bay where he spent a great deal of time with the Inuit at the George River Community.

Preparation for these trips in the wilderness takes a lot of time. Bob packs enough food for the summer which generally consists of dried foods, pemican plus there is always as much fresh fish as one would want to eat.

Harry points out that his son seems to eat his way north on these trips and food never seems to be a problem. A great deal of time has to be spent planning the routes that will be taken when in the north. Bob reads all the government literature possible plus goes over many maps in great detail.

When fully packed, Bob carries about 300 pounds of supplies and equipment, plus an 18 foot Gurman aluminum canoe. Harry noted that his son's pack gets lighter as he travels because the food supply gets smaller.

Travelling along by yourself can be a lot of work. In order to portage Bob has to make three trips between the bodies of water.

The closest call Bob has had in his journeys was when his canoe overturned in the George River in Labrador. The waters of the George River are cold all year round and a person's chance of survival would not be to great if he spent too much time in the water.

When his canoe overturned Bob spent three hours clinging to the side of it until he was rescued by a group of Americans who were in the area at a fly-in fishing camp.

One of the necessities and enjoyments of these trips is the fishing. Bob packs a great deal of fishing equipment in order to try his luck and get some food to supplement his diet.

Probably his most successful fishing venture was when accompanied by a Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman 150 pounds of Arctic Char was caught in two hours one evening.

Bob's journey to Labrador started by plane, once in Labrador he started exploring the area. Instead of coming home this winter he stayed in Labrador working in the iron ore mines which are coming into prominence in that area of the country.

Both are working in the mines and travelling the north come naturally to Bob, his father, Harry, once worked on the exploration team for Hollinger Mine in northern Ontario.

Bob's next trip will be a year and a half venture into the western part of Canada's so called frozen north. He is hoping to start next summer and canoe up the McKenzie River and travel west to Fort McPherson in the North West Territories.

Travelling by canoe means an early start in the morning

New regulations for bottlers

A new regulation announced today by Ontario Environment Minister George A. Kerr will ensure province-wide availability and use of carbonated soft drinks in refillable containers and reduce undesirable environmental effects of non-refillable containers.

The regulation under The Environmental Protection Act requires the display and sale of refillable bottles wherever soft drinks are sold and establishes a mandatory deposit and cash refund on all refillable soft drink containers. It also bans soft drink and beer cans with detachable pull-tab openers.

"These regulatory measures will result in a progressive reduction in the quantity of throwaway containers which add materially to our solid waste load," Mr. Kerr said. "The controls are being phased in over a reasonable time to avoid confusing the consumer in the market place, to minimize economic and employment loss in the industry and to avoid disruption to the soft drink distribution system."

The regulation is the first phase of our new attack on waste caused by the proliferation of throwaways. I am prepared to introduce other measures as required and as recommended by the Waste Management Advisory Board."

Effective October 1, 1976, the regulation will require retail vendors to accept the return of clean, intact refillable bottles up to a limit of 48 per person per day and to refund in cash a minimum mandatory deposit of 10 cents on individual size bottles and 20 cents on family sizes. Retailers must also display a public notice, provided by the Ministry of the Environment outlining the deposit refund system.

Where prices are advertised or displayed, the content price and refundable deposit on refillable bottles must be shown clearly and separately.

Effective March 1, 1977, soft drink cans with detachable openers will be banned from use in Ontario, with a similar ban on this type of beer can to be effective July 1, 1977. Distributors and retailers will be allowed a reasonable time to clear existing stocks.

Effective April 1, 1977, a retailer may not offer non-refillables unless he also offers the same sizes, flavors and brands in refillable containers.

Effective April 1, 1977, non-refillable soft drink containers smaller than 480 milliliters (17 ounces) will be prohibited on licensed premises. This, in effect, requires bars and taverns to serve soft drinks in either refillable containers or carafes for mixed drinks and eliminates the throwaway split common in premises selling alcoholic beverages.

Effective April 1, 1978, only five sizes of refillable carbonated soft drink containers will be manufactured in Ontario—200 milliliters (ml) for use on licensed premises only, 300 ml, 750 ml, 1 liter and 1.5 liters—roughly equivalent to 7 ounces, 10.5 ounces, 26.5 ounces, 35.5 ounces and 53.5 ounces. However, a retailer may sell only three of these sizes in any given brand and flavor.

The regulation in effect limits the sale of soft drinks to three sizes in any given brand or flavor and eliminates the confusing proliferation of sizes now offered on retail shelves.

Lead time of approximately 18 months is required by the industry to phase out existing sizes and to prepare for production of sizes to come on stream in 1977.

Some thoughts about advertising

• In times of uncertainty, consumers are careful and a little reluctant to spend. They want to be sure before they buy; they want information. One of the main ways they get information about products, services, prices and values is from advertising. Your's or somebody else's.

• Maybe you figure other retailers in your line are going to cut back their advertising, so it's safe for you, too. Right? Wrong. You're in competition for the consumer's dollar with every other retailer in town, no matter what he sells. People have only so many dollars to spend, and if they don't spend them for what you sell, they'll spend them for something else.

• Whether business is good or bad, you have to get your share of whatever business is around. Cutting back your advertising puts you at a disadvantage at the very moment when you need an edge. Increasing your advertising gives you the edge.

• Your advertising is part of your sale force. Ads help to presell the customer and help you close the sale faster. What saves you time and saves you money.

With Labour Day just around the corner the end of another summer season is in sight. Our Travel Counsellors who have served us so capably throughout the summer will be shortly heading back to school. It is only through the service of these girls supplied by the Central Ontario Travel Association that we were able to keep the office open until 9 p.m. through July and August. We shall now find it necessary to cut back to shorter hours and to start with the office will be closed Labour Day.

We are not, however, relaxing because the summer is coming to a close - we still have much work to do for Fall and Winter promotion. We recently sent a newsletter to the membership in this regard, and to date the response has been underwhelming. We realize that everyone is busy, but we must have some immediate response if we are going to get these promotions arranged. Please take another look at your newsletter now and if there is anything you are not clear on, give us a call.

It's not that far ahead to Winter either and Cross-Country Skiing has been a subject of considerable conversation throughout the summer. It appears there is enough interest in this sport to merit the formation of a Cross-Country Ski Club. There are three groups who should find this of considerable interest. First of all, of course, there are the local residents who are interested in Cross-Country Skiing. Secondly, local commercial enterprise that would benefit from the Tourist traffic it would generate, and thirdly, other clubs from larger centres that could make use of any trail programme that was developed. The formation of a club can pool the interests of all these groups to come up with concrete action that will benefit them all. Our Snowmobile Association also indicated they would like to be involved so they could work in co-operation with the club. Initial plans would be to work with resort operators to develop trails adjacent to them, work with municipalities to develop trail in their parkland, and organize competition rallies and races. A formal meeting will be held at Deer Lodge on Tuesday, September 14, to get things started. If you are among any of the above mentioned interest groups, we strongly urge you to attend. If you would like further information you may contact either John Teljeur at 457-2281 evenings, or the Chamber Office at 286-1760 during the day.

Next week marks the first anniversary of the existence of this column. We hope to make it a bit special. See you then.

Report from Queen's Park

by John Eakins
M.P.P., Victoria-Haliburton

In October 1975 a Select Committee was constituted to review the Fourth and Fifth Reports of the Ontario Commission on the Legislature and to advise on the implementation of the recommendations contained in these Reports. The First Interim Report of this Committee was submitted to the Legislature on December 4th, 1975, and adopted following debate in the House December 18th. Among the accepted recommendations of this First Interim Report was the establishment of constituency offices for Members of the Provincial Parliament. Another recommendation was that permission be granted for television and radio coverage of the proceedings of the Legislature. This was permitted during the spring session, and has become a regular feature of the Legislature's activities.

The Second Interim Report of the Select Committee is dated June 22nd, 1976. This Report could significantly change the operation of the Ontario Legislature and the role of the individual M.P.P. The "Morrow Report" - so-called after the Chairman of the Select Committee, Donald Morrow (P.C.), M.P.P. for Ottawa West - contains recommendations in 17 key areas of operation of the Legislature, many of which are innovative and interesting. Incidentally, the other members of the Committee are Margaret Campbell (St. George) and Murray Gaunt (Huron-Brace) of the Liberal Party, Michael Cassidy (Ottawa Centre) and Elic Martel (Sudbury East) of the N.D.P., and Lorne Maack (Perry Sound) with Robert Eaton (Middlesex) for the Conservatives.

According to the Interim Report, "the volume of Government business, ministerial expenditure estimates, committee work and constituency obligations place demands on Members' time that are, under present circumstances, virtually impossible to meet". Because of this situation, the Report recommends substantial re-organization of Legislative activity and an increase in the total number of Provincial Members, from the present 125 to 155, with a view of dealing more effectively with the increased work load. Provision for a research assistant for each elected Member is a further recommendation of the Report. This, combined with the smaller Ridings which would result from increasing the total number of Members, would facilitate better representation of the people of Ontario, and would also expand the role of back-bench MPPs.

In addition, the Report recommends that the Question Period of the Ontario Legislature have a duration of one hour, instead of the current 45 minutes, with each Opposition Party Leader permitted two lead-off questions, and the remainder of the time allocated to other questions on a rotation basis among Members. Such an arrangement would enable a greater number of MPPs to ask questions of the various Ministers.

The Report further recommends that one entire day be set aside for consideration of Private Member's Bills. At present, only one hour per week is available for this purpose, with each Party taking its turn, in rotation. In effect, the "Morrow Committee" suggests that all day Friday be used for discussion of Private Member's Bills, which should be allowed to come to a vote. If one and one-half hour's debate were allowed for each Bill, several could be dealt with each Friday, which would considerably demand the Members' activities and influence.

Committees of the Legislature would play a much expanded and more important role, if the recommendations of the "Morrow Committee" are accepted. Under the proposed revised system, eight Standing Committees would be established, with no Member being forced to serve on any two Committees. A Standing Committee would be able to call witnesses, to set up sub-committees, and, in general, to expand the depth and quality of their investigations. Here again, the aim is to foster and promote the involvement and input of as many Members as possible. These Committees would meet throughout the Session and be able to travel around the Province, as required.

The Committee's recommendations seek to change on practice which has, quite understandably confused visitors to the Legislature. To date, at the time of a vote, the Speaker directs the Clerk to "call in the Members", and division bells ring. Those Members in the Chamber promptly leave, secure in the knowledge that the bells will ring for a long period, often in excess of half-an-hour - sometimes for several hours. The Report recommends that a fixed period be established, possible twenty minutes, between the calling of a vote and the vote itself. This would provide sufficient time for Members to assemble, and the fixed time-limitation would help to speed up proceedings in the Chamber.

See you next week.

Ontario's school bus safety regulations are everyone's responsibility.

This is what you can do to make sure they're observed.

Your Ontario Government needs your help in protecting our province's school children. So we urge you as a motorist to drive with extra care whenever you see a school bus in front of you or coming towards you.

You will recognize the school bus by its chrome-yellow colour. And whenever it flashes its alternating red signal lights front and rear, you must stop. In fact, all traffic from both directions must stop.

This is true everywhere in Ontario... on highways, country roads, and city, town or village streets, and regardless of the speed limit. The penalty for disobeying this law is a fine of up to $100 and 4 demerit points.

The only exception is for motorists going in the opposite direction from the school bus on the other side of a multi-lane highway divided by a physical barrier.

There is something else you can do, as well. Instruct your children to follow the school bus safety rules learned at school - to help the bus driver by behaving quietly and by keeping seated until it is time to leave the bus.

County sports

By Jim Badgley

We are fast approaching the in between sports season, when there has been about as much baseball and softball as we can take and most of us are looking for the fast pace of hockey.

This year we will not have to wait so long for the change though. This week the Canada Cup series started which will give hockey its climax at the beginning of the season.

One wonders who is responsible for the series starting at this time in the season. Back in 1972 we remember the battle cry of the first Team Canada after it was so shockingly upset in the first half of the series in Canada.

Never again would a series be started that early in the season, when our boys aren't in shape. At that time it was explained to us that the Russians made hockey a year round business although they were known as amateurs and our professionals only played during the winter months, or should we say played a little too much in the summer depending on what sport you are talking about.

This time around though the Canadian team truly is the best in the country, no more desentation between the WHA and the NHL as to what league will play, both are participating. The Europeans are facing the top guns in the west now and it is doubtful that countries such as Finland will be able to stand up.

The Russians, Swedes and Czechs will still be tough. Starting from the bottom of the four main hockey powers, the Swedes could be the big upset team in the games.

They are seasoned with a few fellows who have picked up some much needed experience as professionals, including Borje Salming who happened to be the mainstay of a surprising Toronto Maple Leaf team last season.

The Swedes should finish no worse than third in the tourney and don't be surprised if they come out in second with a run at the top.

The Russians have been relegated to a poor third for them after being upset by Czechs in the world championships. I believe that the Russians are, facing what Canada did in 1972, a team that is getting a little old for the fast type of competition international hockey provides and perhaps the young players are not quite ready.

The U.S.S.R.'s big plus as it has been in past series is the greatest goalie in the world, Tretiak. No doubt most NHL shooters will attest to that especially the Montreal Canadiens, the powerhouse of the North American rink.

Last year the Habs outskated, outthrustled and outplayed the Red Army team only to find Tretiak almost impossible to beat. After that contest Tretiak could have told Ken Dryden to get on the plane to Moscow and stayed with the Canadiens himself.

With Tretiak in net and some speedy young forwards Russia is still a contender but it is unlikely their defence will stand up to the 50 goal shooters from Canada.

The Czechs are now the number one amateur hockey team in the world, they proved it by downing Russia for the world title. The team is so good in fact that it is unlikely that even if allowed to play Nedamanski of Toronto Toro fame would make the club.

This iron curtain country could finish first but is my bet that second is the best they will do and it is likely they will finish as far down as fourth.

Team Canada 76 edition is no doubt the strongest we have ever put into an international tournament.

The international goalies will find the shots the hardest they have ever faced. Remember back to last year when the Wings of Soviet ran into a skating, shooting Buffalo team and found themselves on the very short end of a very lopsided score I expect we will see much more or the same this year.

In 1972 hockey was at a low ebb in Canada and the National Hockey League. The World Hockey Association had taken away many of the National leagues best including one Bobby Hull. Remember that era in hockey it also seems that the stars of today were still a little green and the stars of the years before were getting a little old or retired.

No doubt the Russians would have seen a different type of hockey team if the series had been played five or six years before when the likes of Gordie Howe and Jean Beliveau were the leading snipers in hockey. At that time Bobby Hull was shooting the puck so hard nobody could see it and a guy like Paul Henderson the hero of the 1972 series at his peak probably wouldn't have been considered for a 1967 NHL all star team.

Team Canada 76 should win the Canada Cup hands down if the players have the desire to prove once and for all who are the best in the world. A couple of massive victories over the weaker teams such as Finland and the United States should as one great sports person whose name I cannot remember said "put the fear of God" in the other teams in the tournament.

Orienteering meet planned for area

An orienteering meeting will be held at the Boy Scout Reserve, Saturday, Sept. 25.

Orienteering is a sport similar to car rallying, except that it is done on foot.

A news release states, "At an orienteering meet you are given a very detailed map on which a number of circles have been marked identifying the course you are to follow."

The release points our participants have to read their maps and navigate to the markers located in the terrain corresponding to the circles on the map.

The event is open to all members of the public and previous experience in orienteering is not necessary.

"A beginners course with instruction will be available for novices. The event and location would also be very suitable to someone who is just interested in a leisurely walk in the woods enjoying the Haliburton "Fall Colors", the release says.

Registration for the meet will take place at the parking lot of the Boy Scout Reserve from 10:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. the day of the event.

Huskies take on Bancroft

The Haliburton Huskies will get their first taste of action this season Wednesday and Thursday night when they take on Bancroft at the arena.

The two exhibition games will be used as part of the referees school.

News from Minden

Denise Stringer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.T. Stringer of Lutterworth Pines Park left August 23rd for Nepal. Denny served four years there some time ago and then was asked to go to Bangladesh for two months as they needed help at that time, then she came home on her first furlough. She then went back again and last Spring, she took ill, and had to be sent home, and has been at home since then. Denny is a therapist in the U.M.N. hospital in Tansen, Palpa, and she enjoys the work very much, and is happy about going back again, excepting having to leave her home; but her heart is in the work and she will be glad to get back again to her life there. She is situated right at the foot of the Himalayan mountains, as Nepal is right on top of India on the map. All her friends wish her Godspeed, and trust that her health will be all right this time.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Percy Burk and John Kernohan Sr., whose funerals were since last week.

Mrs. E. Windover spent last week visiting friends in Lindsay and stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd King (her daughter).

We are pleased to report that Mrs. Chester Loucke is home after a stay at Ross Memorial and all her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Visitors one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson were her nieces Lindsay Voycey of Hobbena Alberta and Mrs. Paul Cockburn of Woodville.

Final Service at Minden United Church for Rev. James F. Bushell was last Sunday morning and a large crowd was in attendance. Nearly every one enjoyed the Potluck Luncheon in the Church Hall following the service.

Muriel Ewing of Toronto spent the weekend with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Sears and her sons Chris and Scott returning home with her following their holiday in Minden.

Mrs. Roy Hazelton of Oshawa spent the weekend with her sister Mrs. E. Windover.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gagnon (nee Jacqueline Payne) who were married Aug. 14 at Oshawa.

We notice that Stompin Tom will be back in Minden this Friday at the Recreation Centre at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hewitt, Deborah and Paul of Scarborough spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ern Hewitt and Colin.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Beattie and family of Richmond Hill spent the weekend in the village.

All her friends send good wishes to Mrs. May Wilson at Toronto General Hospital.

The community sends good wishes to these people celebrating Birthdays at Hyland Crest Senior Citizen Home, Elsie Flint, Eliza Chalmers, Charlotte Cooper, Viola Deumo, Alberta Webber and Thomas Sawyer.

Weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Coulter were Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson and Earl of Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. William Callow and family of Huntsville, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Coulter and Deborah of Gravenhurst, and Mrs. Dorothy Bethune of Utterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Kernohan and children spent last week with his mother Mrs. A.S. Kernohan.

Miss Trudy Coulter returned home after a three week holiday with the George Johnsons of Whitney.

Minden's Agricultural Fall Fair began with persons placing their entries in the Grounds. Saturday, the Parade was better with many more entries and was led by the legion Band from Scarborough and the route had people showing their appreciation. The Haliburton Pipe Band came later in the Parade and both Bands gave fine exhibitions of their skills. This year, heavy rain cooled the humid air but also chased some people home, but for those who stayed the entertainment started again and all went as planned. Some events were postponed until Sunday and a goodly crowd was there, but everyone had to dress for the cooler weather. Hay rides with drivers Calvin and Lorne Kent provided Hay Rides to the Recreation Centre where Art and crafts, photography and the Public School Exhibit were on display. Attendance may have been down but everyone agreed this was an interesting Fair.

Oldest lady at 84 was Mrs. Tessa Davis and at 80 oldest gentleman was Steve Rose of Norland. In nail driving winners were Molly Moores, Marjorie Cowan and Debbie Longville. Some 30 or more youngsters took part in the Bubble Gum Blowing with winners Joanne Garrett, Scott Callow of Huntsville and Michael Teachman of Port Sydney. A lively amateur Contest has as winners Juniors, Lisa Teatro, Chris Davis, and Blair Marks and seniors Curtis Gartshore, Wendy Billings and Don and Cheryl Alton. The talent was great and back-up music helped all the contestants.

Guests last week with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Kernohan were Mr. and Mrs. George MacInnes of Hanover and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Barkwell of Fredericton N.B.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Kernohan and family of Whitney spent the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Kernohan.

New regulations for soft drink containers

The regulations reflect the extensive study of the soft drink industry and retailing undertaken by the Ministry's Waste Management Advisory Board and the Solid Waste Task Force which preceded the board.

Mr. Kerr said the advisory board will continue to examine soft drink containers in co-operation with the vending machine industry to examine means of improving the situation with regard to their sale of non-refillables. As one improvement, the vending industry will be expected to replace the 284 ml (10 ounce) cans now sold in its machines with the new 300 ml size.

The board has also been asked to examine the impact on the soft drink industry and the consumer of the future introduction of a standardized bottle system and any other improvements which may be desirable.

The industry has responded to encouragement and guidance offered by the Ministry and the advisory board with voluntary measures to restore the availability and use of refillable containers, Mr. Kerr said.

"The effect of this voluntary program was a slight increase in the use of refillables—the first reversal in more than a decade of a trend toward non-refillable containers. However, the latest marketing research indicates that this trend toward refillable bottles has levelled and confirms that regulatory action is now required," he said.

First patents

The first patents issued in Canada appeared in 1791. They were granted by the Governor General in Council for processes to make potash and soap from wood ash. They issued to Angus MacDonnell, a Scottish soldier garrisoned at Quebec City and to Samuel Hopkins, a Vermont. It is interesting to note that Hopkins also obtained the first American patents, also in 1791, one which was signed by George Washington himself.

The largest number of patents granted to a Canadian resident have gone to George B. Dorey of Montreal who has received over 180 patents, mostly for railway car equipment, particularly ore hoppers.

J.W. Elliott of Toronto, invented the first revolving snow shovel in 1869. It was further developed by O. Jull and the Leslie Brothers of Orangeville, Ontario, and was the forerunner of the rotary snow plow which is indispensable for year-round rail operations in many parts of the world today.

Prof. E.F. Burton - heading a team consisting of C.E. Howe, Ely Berton and James Hillier, all members of the physics department of the University of Toronto, made the electron microscope a practical, commercial device in the late 1930's.

Dr. Donald Thomas Green - is co-inventor of the Cobalt 60 cancer therapy unit or "cobalt bomb" first used in the London Clinic of the Ontario Cancer Foundation in the fall of 1951. It is built and distributed by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd.'s Commercial Products Division.

"Some individuals and organizations have called for a ban as a quick and easy solution to the environmental problems posed by the non-returnable container," Mr. Kerr said. "The extensive research conducted by the advisory board supports the belief that this is neither practical nor desirable at this time."

"For example, the distribution and collection systems required for a total shift to refillable containers do not exist now and it will require a reasonable time for the industry to develop such a system."

He said the regulation, based on recommendations of the advisory board, provides for a progressive change which accommodates smooth adjustment of the industry and the consumer to new market conditions. "In the future market, refillables will come to play an increasingly major role because the regulation changes the system under which soft drinks are bought and sold," he said.

"When soft drinks must be stocked in refillable containers and deposits must be paid and refunded, it is convenient for the consumer to save money by choosing the refillable container. Traditionally, soft drinks cost less in a money-back bottle and I see no reason for the price advantage to change," Mr. Kerr added that the display and advertising requirements of the regulation will guarantee that the consumer is made aware of the price advantages of buying refillables.

"The Ontario Government will continue to inform the public of the environmental and social advantages of the refillable container," Mr. Kerr said, "and I invite the industry and concerned environmental groups to join Environment Ontario in an ongoing program of public education."

Mr. Kerr added that he expects the soft drink industry to work with Ontario's resource recovery program and assume a more active role in the reclamation of waste generated by non-refillable containers. "It is practical to tolerate some lower level on non-refillable containers in the waste stream if we get greater commitment from the industry in improving reclamation technology and in expanding the markets for recovered waste materials."

Liberal leader wants revision in Wintario

Ontario Liberal Leader Stuart Smith today urged a revision of Wintario regulations so that grants are made on the basis of the varying abilities of communities to raise matching funds.

"During my tour of Northern Ontario last week," Dr. Smith said, "it was apparent that many small communities do not have as prosperous an economic base as others from which to raise the funds required to match Wintario grants."

"As a result I believe the grants should be made on a formula based on the economic status of the communities applying for Wintario grants. Perhaps the per capita income of a community might be a suitable method of providing a base for adjusting grants."

"Certainly some recognition must be made of the fact that it is easier, for simple economic reasons, to raise funds through voluntary campaigns in some communities than it is in others."

Dr. Smith said that the principle of communities raising their own funds must be maintained to preserve the spirit of voluntary self-help in the communities.

"I do not believe that the spirit of voluntary service within a community should be destroyed by abdicating responsibility for fund raising within the local community," Dr. Smith said.

As a result, he added, he was opposed to any suggestions that dollar matching provisions required for Wintario grants should be eliminated.

"What we do need in Wintario is a recognition of the fact that it is much more difficult to raise money through local volunteer programs in some communities than it is in others. This is especially true in view of the fact that many small communities are now faced with the prospect of raising money to replace arenas that no longer meet structural safety standards established by the Ontario Government."

Dr. Smith said that present Wintario grant distribution regulations provide funds for those communities which are assistance

Some 46,200 Ontario families, receiving provincial financial assistance, were mailed supplementary allowances for their school-age children today, by the Ministry of Community and Social Services.

Introduced in 1975, this special provincial Family Benefits payment provides $25 each for children ages 4 to 12 and $50 each for those 13 and over.

Purpose of the allowances, totalling $3,438,350, is to help meet clothing and other costs related to attending school.

About 40,000 mothers, with dependent children, will be assisted, along with 3,700 families where the father is permanently unemployable or disabled and 2,500 foster mothers.

Family Benefits recipients totalled 105,527 in August and include the blind, disabled, elderly, permanently unemployable and foster parents, along with sole-support mothers.

Tax costs, not profits

By KENNETH McDONALD

The Communist Manifesto of 1848 contained a 10-point program for subverting capitalist economies and destroying private property. Second on the list: A heavy progressive or graduated income tax. Don't look now, but we've got it. And it's working as foretold by Marx and Engels.

Like death, taxes are inevitable. But the method of taxation is subject to change. We may think that because former Finance Minister Edgar Benson's "reforms" are only five years old it's too soon to change them. On the contrary, it's almost too late!

We've become so accustomed, though not reconciled, to taxes that we're concerned less with changing the system than with finding ways to beat it. A great army of accountants and lawyers is deployed to help businessmen make the most of tax "incentives" and special allowances. There is no such thing as a tax incentive. Each and every tax is a disincentive. There are only forms of relief from tax disincentives.

In a profit-oriented economy the emphasis should be on cutting costs. But when profits are taxed at 50 per cent, the inclination is to spend more, because business costs "are only 50-cent dollars". Our whole economy is no longer profit-oriented but tax-oriented.

A positive, alternative approach is proposed in a private research study by JRF Financial Consultants Ltd. of Ottawa (John R. Ferguson is also a director of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business). Business enterprises would be taxed not on profits but on the basis of Net Business Costs.

Then the incentive would be on cutting costs in order to increase profits. The tax system would reinforce sound business principles rather than distort them, as it does now.

Instead of making business decisions for tax reasons, businessmen would make them for business reasons. Taxing profits favors inefficient companies at the expense of efficient ones - the more efficient, the more tax. In a final absurdity, the state then uses tax monies from efficient companies to subsidize failing ones - the free lunch philosophy again.

Taxing costs would put everyone, including Crown corporations and foreign branch plants, on the same competitive footing. The study indicates that a tax of five per cent on net business costs would produce more revenue than taxing profits; enough to reduce personal income tax and eliminate sales taxes.

Our whole inflationary mess is tax-induced. The way out is to turn the system around so that it stimulates, instead of destroys, the economy.

The heart-searching "ifs" which Jesus uttered in the eighth chapter of the Gospel of John, have been likened to hinges on which the "believer" may swing in or out of fellowship with the Lord God. Nowhere else in Holy Writ are found more "ifs" attached to the statements of the Great Teacher.

Jesus began to expound to the people around Him as to His true identity and purpose for coming into this world. John 8:12-30. His claim was that He was the "light of the world" and he that followed Him would not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life. In verse 30 we read that they were all believed on Him, having been warned that "if" they failed to do so, they would die in their sins, verse 24.

To the believing ones, the "if" of discipleship was set before them by Jesus in these words, "If ye continue

Gems of Truth

In My Word, then are ye my disciples indeed" verse 31. True discipleship is the result of abiding in the Truth, as revealed to us in Jesus Christ. Opposition is sure to come and many offended ones will forsake the Truth in theory or in practice. Matth. 13:20-21. To continue not in His Word is to become false witnesses, thus continuing not in His word is to become false witnesses, thus forfeiting fellowship with Him. Heb. 10:38. Peter became a disciple indeed when he boldly spoke the truth about Christ which he had once denied.

In verse 36 we read "If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed." The freedom which the Divine Son of God gives is a freedom that can come from "none other Name under Heaven." Acts 4:12. It is freedom from the curse of the Law, Galatians 3:10; freedom from the guilt of sin, Romans 8:33; freedom from the power of sin 6:14; freedom from the fear of death, Hebrews 2:15; and freedom from the fear of man. Acts 4:18-20. This freedom of true children of God is freedom indeed.

It is possible to misuse freedom for selfish purposes so Jesus warns about this in verse 39, "If" ye were Abraham's children, ye would do the works of Abraham." In Galatians 3 verse 7 we read, "They which are of faith the same are the children of Abraham." The spiritual children of Abraham show their faith by their works, as he did. That faith was evidenced when he "went out, not knowing whither he went." The truly born-again child of God will do works worthy of being such a child. Works of faith are the infallible proofs of a true spiritual birth.

Thus follows the "if" of sonship, "If God were your Father, ye would love me." John 8:42. To know the Father as He is revealed to us in the Son, surely implies that we sincerely love the Son for so bringing us into such a gracious knowledge of the Father. To call God Father or Jehovah and ignore the Son is to insult both Father and Son. The true evidence of our sonship with God is love to His Son. Not only will we love the Father and the Son, but we will also love every child of God, for Scripture plainly states that, "everyone that loveth Him that begat, (gave new birth) loveth also him that is begotten of Him" 1 John 5:1. Responsibility is cast upon true followers of the Lord Jesus Christ by His words in John 8:46, "If I say the truth, why do ye not believe me." Surely He did speak the truth and lived it, for no one was able to convince or convict Him of sin. He spoke the truth about Himself, about the Father and about the needs and responsibilities of the people verses 12-24. Why would anyone not believe Him? Who will ever be able to justify himself in unbelief?

How good to have the assurance that Jesus gives to us in verse 51, "If a man keep my Word, he shall never see death." Eternal life and salvation are embodied in that Word. Death can have no power over that one whose life is hid with Christ in God. Col. 3:3. To keep His Word is to keep the message Jesus brings, and to make use of its offer to our own personal needs. It is like wrapping ourselves in that Word as a garment, thus to abide in it, thus keeping it and are thus kept by the power of God through faith. The promise is "he shall never see death." John 11:26. Not only shall that believing one never "die", but shall never see "death." Such deliverance does not refer to mere physical death, but that awful death, the eternal penalty of sin and guilt Rom. 3:23. How thankful the true child of God should be that they are free from eternal death! That response is surely evidenced in Godly living now.

In Memoriam

DAVIS - In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Arnold, who passed away, September 4th, 1973.

A beautiful memory of one so dear,
We cherish still with love sincere;
A day that comes with sad regret
To one that we will never forget.

Lovingly remembered by wife Alice and family.

DAVIS - In loving memory of Dad, Arnold, who passed away September 4th, 1973.

As time unfolds another year
Memories keep you ever near Silent thoughts of times together
Hold memories that will last forever.

Remembered by daughter Gwenn, son-in-law Bill, grandchildren Martin, Ted, Willy and Dawn.

DAVIS - In loving memory of my dear son, Arnold Edward, who passed away September 4th, 1973.

No one heard the footsteps
Of the Angel drawing near
That took from earth to Heaven
The one we loved so dear
He has not really left us
Or has he travelled far
Just entered God's beautiful garden

Lovingly remembered and never forgotten, by his mother.

Park staffs checking increased vandalism

In recent years a great deal of concern has been expressed over increase in rowdiness and vandalism in Ontario's Provincial Parks. If a recent court session held in Whitney is any indication, then Algonquin Park's staff is doing its best to reverse

Injured in ski accident

A 29-year-old man suffered injuries to his hip, right arm and left leg in a water skiing accident Saturday at 6 p.m.

Berndy Heumann attempted to coast close to shore when skiing and misjudged the distance landing on some rocks.

He was skiing on Gull Lake.

current trends. A total of sixty charges were laid under the Provincial Parks Act, the Fisheries Regulations and the Game and Fish Act. The cases were heard on Friday August 13, 1976, and offenders may be putting more stock in the old superstition, as fines ranged from $28.00 to $200.00.

Twenty-seven of the charges were laid under the Provincial Parks Act. These involved such offences as - camping without a permit, using abusive language or excessive noise and re-entering a park within 72 hours of an eviction.

Park regulations were created to provide all visitors with an opportunity to enjoy a peaceful, relaxing outdoor experience. Unfortunately, there continues to be a small minority who have no respect for those regulations or for their fellow campers. Ministry staff, with the co-operation of campers, are working to eliminate this unwanted element from the Park experience.

Gull watershed flow reduced

Early in the week of August 30 to 31, the flows out of the Gull River

Watershed were increased to about 840 c.f.s., while the flows in the Burnt River Watershed were increased from near minimum flows to about 210 c.f.s.

Substantial increases in flows were made on the Mississauga River and Eel's Creek Watersheds and flows were increased slightly on the Jack's Creek Watershed. The increase flows were made necessary by the recent hot, dry weather over the whole Trent-Severn Watershed. The storage on the Reservoirs was 67 per cent on August 23rd.

The Kawartha Lakes started the week close to their maximum navigation levels, and flows down the Otonabee River have been reduced to the minimum in anticipation of greatly increases evaporation losses.

Parks Canada is presently developing and improved day use area at Lock 22, just north of Trent University on River Road. New features will be, improved parking facilities, a boat launching ramp, barbecues and more picnic tables.

Labor Day accidents

The Canada Safety Council says it would be predicting Labour Day Weekend traffic fatalities far in excess of the anticipated 71-76 were if not for the assistance given by the press and broadcast media in passing safety reminders to the public.

Phil Farmer, a spokesman for the Council, suggested that there are some drivers who will never heed warnings, never take extra care, and who seldom slow down for anything. They will not have read this far.

However, the better drivers among us appreciate a tip and use it to stay out of trouble, and being human we can all forget something we once knew about safe driving just as we forget what we knew about trigonometry, Augustus Caesar, and the agricultural products of Outer Mongolia.

Worst Labour Day on record was 1966, when 102 died in traffic. Over the past five years, deaths have averaged 82 - rather higher than last year's total of 73. The Council still feels that, although there will be many extra cars on the roads, mandatory bucky-up rulings in both Ontario and Quebec will hold deaths down even if accidents increase.

Growing numbers of self-serve gasoline stations mean that more drivers have to clean their own windshields. The Council suggests that this be done by hand, off the road, as squashed bugs can smear under wiper operation, reducing visibility.

Earlier darkness means that all lights and signals should be checked for proper operation, and the Safety Council reminds those towing trailers to make sure following vehicles have an opportunity to pass safely every few miles-even if it means pulling right off the road.
